They say that Harvard students pay more for cigarettes than for books. To remedy this statisticians blemish it may become necessary to charge more for the books.

Governor Wilson complains that the headline writers don't make their captions fit the story, which shows his ignorance of journalism in New York, where the stories are always written to match the heads.

BANK REPORT

EXAMINERS CERTIFY CONDITION

Office of The Citizens Banking Co. Perryburg, O., Jan. 29, 1913.
The undersigned examining committee appointed by the Board of Directors of said bank in accordance with the Laws of the State of Ohio, to make an examination of the assets and liabilities of the bank, hereby certify that an examination was made by the committee as of the close of business the 23rd day of January, 1913.

We beg to submit the following:
The assets and liabilities of the said bank at the close of business on the 23rd day of January, 1913, were found to be as stated on the books of the bank. A complete inventory was made of all loans, notes and bonds. Cash was counted and found to tally with the cash balance shown by the books, and the reserve accounts with our city depositories were compared and verified. The statement of liabilities, deposits and certificates outstanding was found correct.

Your committee found the books of the bank correct and in balance, and in excellent condition, and the values shown to be correct without exception. No overdrafts other than temporary were found, and no excessive loans exist. We have examined the minutes of the proceedings of stockholders and directors meetings and we find their instructions faithfully executed.

We wish to comment especially upon the efficiency with which the operations of the bank are handled and the very high character of the loans and investments in which your funds are employed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The Smallest Shop Best Lighted

will do more business than a large store poorly lighted. The new G.E. MAZDA Economy Diffusers make it possible to flood small business places with electric light at a very small cost. The light from these new lamps is so brilliant, and is so perfectly diffused that often only one cluster is needed. The turn-down switch gives just the degree of light desired. You will be interested in the terms we can offer you on these lights. Ask about them.

The White Lily has greater speed than any other rotary washer on the market, and makes a full three-quarter turn of the dasher. Requiring only 2 3-8 revolutions of the fly wheel to each turn and return of the dasher, it literally boils the soap into suds, and no other medium priced machine will do as fast or as good work with as little labor. For the money, there is no better machine on earth.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

The South and Protection.

The south which has been sending Democratic delegations to congress for years and years is now an important manufacturing community and it is thought that they will show more interest in maintaining a protective tariff than they have ever done since the war. The south is now literally covered with manufacturing establishments and feels the need of protection same as the manufacturing industries of the Central and New England states do.

Financial Legislation.

Serious attention will be given to financial legislation also in the near future.

It is clearly evident that the finances of this country while good and sound are not on a scientific basis and the fact of it is that the country does not possess an adequate supply of money, with which to conduct the vast business we carry on. In the days of Clay, Calhoun and Webster the leading financiers as well as those great senators reached the conclusion worth of property, and as this country now possesses about one hundred and fifty billion dollars worth of property there should be five billion dollars ($5,000,000,000) circulating medium, while we only have a trifle over three billion dollars in circulation, and consequently only thirty-five dollars per capita, when we should have $50 per capita.

We have had a great deal of talk about there being an abundance of money in the country, and it is true that there is a large aggregate amount of money in a few hands, but there is not enough money for the transacting of the business of the country to keep it up to that flourishing state of prosperity which is within our reach. Every autumn when the time of "moving the crops" arrives the demands for money with which to move them is so great and the tension so strenuous that it almost snaps at times, (and did in 1907), so this one fact alone proves that there should be an enlargement of the volume of the country's money.

France an Example.

France is the most prosperous of any country in Europe or any one in the world except the United States, and France has a larger circulation per capita than any country in the world. France has a circulation of over forty dollars per capita and France has never been known to have a panic in times of peace. The subject of finance presents a great opportunity for ambitious statesmen in Washington as they have given very meagre attention to this great subject.
